DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 5-6 and 15-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claims 5, 15 and 17, the metes and bounds of the claim can't be determined due to the phrase "and/or".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3, 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Angelotti '071. Angelotti discloses a model for speech therapy containing all of the claimed elements including, an upper and lower portions (12 and 16) as required by claim 1, a transition element (hinged ends 20 and 22) comprising an opening (30) as required by claim 1, a tongue slideably and removably engaged with the opening (figures 5-6 and col. 4, lines 12-18) as required by claim 1 and 9. At least one of the upper and lower portions comprising a poseable material, as required by claims 2 and 12, is shown in figure 6 where it is considered that the jaws is made of a material that may be posed as desired (as shown in figure 6).

Regarding claim 3, Angelotti discloses an upper member having an exterior surface and an interior surface (upper jaw 12) and a lower member having an exterior and interior surfaces (lower jaw 16) joined at the connecting region (22) through hinges (24 and 26) and comprising an opening (30). A tongue made of a poseable material disposed between the front and back sides and disposed in the first opening is shown as tongue 60 and described in col. 4, lines 12-18.

An oral cavity comprising an upper portion disposed on the upper interior surface of the upper member Claims 3-5, 7-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lidert '106. Lidert discloses an animated toy containing all of the claimed elements including, with respect to claim 3, an upper member (upper jaw 16) having an exterior surface (top of the upper jaw) and an interior surface (interior surface 46) and a lower member (lower jaw 14) having an exterior (bottom of the lower jaw) and interior surface (interior surface 44) joined at the connecting region (42) comprising an opening (47). A tongue made of a poseable material (col. 5, lines 26+) disposed between a front and back sides (sides of fabric 26) and disposed in the first opening (47), as required by claim 3, is shown as tongue 20 in figure 9. At least one of an upper member or lower member comprising a poseable material disposed between the respective exterior and interior surfaces, as required by claim 4, is read onto the stuffing material utilized with the toy since the toy made of such material is clearly capable of assuming a pose as shown in figure 1. At least one of a pair of eyes, eyebrows or a nose, as required by claim 7 are shown in figure 1. The connecting region being a fold which continuously joins the upper member and lower member, as required by claim 8, is shown in figure 9.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 5, 17, 19-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Angelotti '071 in view of Mandl '645. Angelotti discloses all of the claimed limitations, as stated above, but for an upper lip and lower lip joined to the proximal ends of the upper and lower member respectively where a cavity is formed between the front and back sides of the upper and lower lips and a lip adjuster as required by claims 5 and 17. Madl discloses a device like that of Angelotti which teaches that it is known to manufacture an upper and lower jaw members with a an upper and lower lip joined to the proximal end of each one respectively (figure 3) where the lips have a cavity (cavity which receives member 69) and a lip adjuster (member 69). Therefore it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art, at the time of applicants invention, to have provided the device of Angelotti with an upper and lower lips including a lip adjuster located in a respective cavity in each lip for the purpose of showing the user the positioning of the mouth/lips during various formation of sounds.

Claims 10-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Angelotti '071 in view of Moore et al '229. Although Angelotti discloses all the claimed elements, as stated above, and further including an alveolar ridge (figure 3 and col. 3, lines 49-52) as required by claim 11, the reference fails to disclose the manipulative tool comprising a separate oral cavity as claimed in claim 10. However, Moore discloses that it is known to manufacture educational models made of a variety of pieces including an oral cavity made of an upper and lower portion (portions 28) receiving teeth (20) which is disposed on an upper and lower interior surface of an upper (12) and lower (14) member, respectively. Therefore it would have been obvious to manufacture the manipulative tool of Angelotti with an oral cavity made of an upper and lower portion receiving teeth which is disposed on an upper and lower interior surface of an upper and lower member, respectively, for the purpose of ease of construction, especially since it has been held that constructing a formerly integral structure in various elements involves only routine skill in the art. Nerwin v. Erlichman, 168 USPQ 177, 179.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 6, 15-16, 18 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

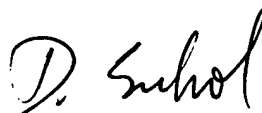

Claims 13-14 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
